

YIPS ring in the new financial year

The rapid growth of the Young Insurance Professionals (YIPS) shows how keen the industry's up and comers are to network and build their business relationships.

YIPS started in 2010 and has grown to branches in all state capitals and New Zealand holding regular professional development and social events.

The Northern Territory branch was launched in July, while YIPS everywhere else welcomed the new financial year with networking events featured on these pages.

The New Zealand YIPS branch celebrated its first birthday in Auckland with live entertainment at the Atticus Cafe.

The Melbourne event at the Highlander Bar sold out quickly and the Western Australian branch met on the Etro rooftop bar overlooking the city.

Queensland YIPS met again following the success of their trivia night in June, while New South Wales YIPS caught up over canapes at the Bull & Bear Bar in the Sydney CBD.
